

Keego Harbor

A community you can LIVE in!

One of Keego Harbor's first residents settled in the area in 1864. The Detroit Urban Railway built its trolley line in 1890's. It went out from West Huron Street in Pontiac to the present day Telegraph Road, then south and around the end of Sylvan Lake to Orchard Lake. Keego Harbor, once a resort destination, with a dance hall, theatre, restaurants and summer cottages developing all along Cass Lake, slowly developed into an established commercial and residential community with a school, library, grocery store and other businesses. When Keego Harbor first developed as a summer community, it was located at the edge of the metropolitan area. Now Keego Harbor, an Oakland County Mainstreet community is located in the middle of one of the fastest growing and wealthiest areas in a six-county metropolitan area.
