Police are looking for a man who robbed a Commerce Township bank Tuesday.

The man walked into the Huntington Bank branch at 14 Mile and Haggerty around 4:20 p.m. Tuesday and handed a holdup note to a teller. He didn't imply he had a weapon but kept his hand in the front pocket of a sweatshirt he was wearing, according to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

The teller put cash in a bag the robber provided. The thief then grabbed the note and took off. Deputies said he likely was a man later seen running into the front of a nearby Subway shop through the stock room and out the back door.

The sheriff's department said the suspect was last seen talking on a cell phone behind a local strip mall. He's described as white, in his 20s, about 5-feet-6 to 5-feet-8 with a thin build, wearing a tan or light gray brimmed hat, a light gray hooded sweatshirt, jeans and white sneakers.

Authorities are asking anyone with information to call Crime Stoppers at 800-773-2587.
