

Commissioner McCulloch Reflects on the Passing of Judge Feikens

March 16, 2011

Oakland County Water Resources Commissioner John P. McCulloch said today that he was saddened to learn of the death of U.S. District Judge John Feikens.

“The passing of Judge Feikens closes an important chapter in our history,” McCulloch said. “He was one of those rare individuals who made his mark long before that book was closed.

“I was fortunate to have known him and privileged to have worked with him. In one of the longest running legal sagas in our nation, his focus never wavered. He served the cause of justice with dignity and resolve,” said McCulloch.

McCulloch added that “despite his advanced years, Judge Feikens’ spirit was forever young and his demeanor was that of the elder statesman whose well-spent life of public service is recalled by those who had the honor of knowing him.”
