Oakland County Youth Assistance
is pleased to host
4 evening presentations by
Jeff Olson.

The story of Daniel Olson of Ishpeming is one that many people have become familiar with over the past several years. Daniel suffered from anxiety and depression and took his own life in the summer of 2012.

Daniel's family has found a way to turn their tragedy into a powerful tool to help educate others about the reality of depression and suicide. The family has made a documentary about Daniel's struggles and Jeff Olson, Daniel's father, has been showing the film and speaking to parents, professionals, and students for over a year. You can learn more at doitfordaniel.com

These evening presentations are for parents and any adults who care about youth.
(High School students accompanied by a parent are welcome)
